East Action Consortium Partnership (EACP)

Bridging Ethiopia and Somaliland for Shared Resilience

About the Consortium

The East Action Consortium Partnership (EACP) is a strategic alliance co-led by the East Action Organization (EAO), bringing together universities, NGOs, and community-based organizations across Ethiopia and Somaliland. Together, we pool knowledge, technical expertise, and grassroots experience to deliver cross-border solutions that address shared challenges, including climate change, displacement, gender inequality, and fragile livelihoods.

Consortium Members

- 1. Jigjiga University – Ethiopia (Academic and research leadership)
- 2. OWDA – Ethiopia (Humanitarian and development expertise)
- 3. SOSTA – Somaliland (Youth, skills, and vocational training)
- 4. ACRIF – Somaliland (Child rights, health, and protection)
- 5. East Action Organization (EAO) – Ethiopia (Lead Partner, Women-led resilience and governance)

Advantages of the Consortium

- Regional Reach: Covers Ethiopia and Somaliland, reaching diverse communities across borders.
- Women-Led Leadership: Guided by EAO's strong commitment to gender equality and inclusive governance.
- Complementary Expertise: Combines academia, humanitarian response, vocational training, child rights, and resilience-building.
- Policy Influence: Joint advocacy strengthens the voice of civil society at regional and global forums.
- Innovation & Research: Academic partnerships with Jigjiga University ensure evidence-based solutions.

- Sustainability: Shared resources and collaborative programming improve impact and long-term resilience.
